NEVADA is the only Northern State that cast a smaller vote in 1880 than in 1876. Hancock received in the counties reported about 200 more votes than Tilden did, while Garfield received 2700 fewer votes than Hayes did. It would seem either that the population has diminished, or that many Republicans staid at home on election day, out of disgust for Sharon, and a suspicion that the Moore letter might be genuine.

THE NEW STATE OF WEST MISSOURI.

The Warrensburg Standard and other papers are talking up the proposed new State of West Missouri, composed of the Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Congressional Districts, all of which have elected Republican Congressmen at the recent election, and composed of the following 28 towns:

Green, Barry, McDonald, Neffine, Jasper, Barton, Vernon, St. Clair, Bates, Cedar, Dade, Lawrence, Henry, Webster, Cole, Miller, Camden, Pettis, Monette, Polk, Dallas, Lafayette, Johnson, Morgan, Benton, Cooper, Cass, Jackson, Clay, Platte, Buchanan, Andrew, Holt, Atchison, Nedaway-Worth, Gentry, De Kalb, Clinton, Caldwell, Ray, Randolph, Chariton, Linn, Sullivan, Mercer, Grundy, Livingston, Davis, Harrison.

The total vote for President in these fifty-one counties was 192,113, a little less than one half the total vote of the State, which was 378,241. The total vote for Hancock in West Missouri was 95,675. The opposition vote was 96,478, a majority against the Democrats of 813. This majority world would have been much larger but for the tremendous majority for Hancock in the Eighth District of 6,608. The Republicans elected their Congressmen in the Eighth District only because the Democrats had two candidates. It will thus be seen that the Eighth District will always be a dark spot in the new State of West Missouri. Still, as we have shown, the Republican majority in the other districts will overcome the adverse majority in the Eighth, and gives for 1880, or the Presidential ticket, a positive anti-mosback majority of 813. This is not "as wise as a Vander," nor as deep as a well," but it will do for a start. The tremendous tide of immigration which will sweep into the new State will give us a Republican majority of 50,000 in five years.

A DOCTOR'S DEVOTION.

From the New York Sun.

Two weeks ago Dr. Sanford, of Greenpoint, L. I., a suburb of Brooklyn, was called to the bedside of a child who was suffering with diphtheria. It was a very malignant case, and Dr. Sanford watched the child night and day. At last the air passages were filled up, and the child would have choked to death had not Dr. Sanford, who had his knife in hand, immediately made an opening in the windpipe, through which, with a small rubber tube, he drew out with his own hand the poisonous fluid. This way of conducting such an operation is regarded by all surgeons as extremely hazardous to the operator. Three French surgeons are known to have lost their lives in the same way. Young Dr. Hutchinson, the son of a distinguished surgeon of Brooklyn, was the only American victim, as far as known, prior to the case of Dr. Sanford.

A short time after the operation, the poison which had incited Dr. Sanford's knife began to do its work. As soon as it was known that he was suffering from diphtheria, all the allopathic doctors in Greenpoint offered their services. Two or three were with him continually. The patient had always been very delicate, and this was against him. His strong nourishment could be kept alive for a certain number of days, it was known that the crisis would be passed, and he would recover. Frozen beef blood was introduced into his stomach, and brandy was injected under the skin. When the patient was able to swallow anything at all he was given ice-cold champagne. Food in the most condensed form was introduced by every possible means. But nothing could save him, and he finally said in a whisper: "It's no use, gentlemen; I've got to go."

Speaking of diphtheria, Dr. Van Gieson said: "I have studied this disease for more than thirty years. I have read many volumes devoted to it, and I have had a great many cases of diphtheria in my practice. Sometimes I have said to myself: 'Well at last I know what diphtheria is.' But if you were to ask me to describe the severity of this disease, I should answer, 'I give it up.' Fortunately, however, we are able to treat it successfully in a great many cases. My method of treatment is told in just one word—sustaining. There are physicians who assert that they have never lost a case of diphtheria. These physicians are either liars or else they have never had many cases of diphtheria. I have sometimes treated as many as thirty cases successfully, and then I have lost one, one right after the other. It is a disease that has different degrees of malignancy. One year its attacks may be very mild, and the next visit it may kill almost every one who becomes infected with it. As for the present epidemic of diphtheria, I am afraid that we have only seen the beginning of it. When I see a diphtheria patient, I can generally make up my mind whether he can be saved or not. But the majority of the cases are
